POSTPONES FIGHT ON RAILROAD CROSSINGS

Street Committee Tables Resolution Aimed at Grade Tracks on Broad Street.

PULLER FOR POSTPONEMENT

Patron Declares Belief That Financial Stringency Now Facing Railroads Renders Pressure at This Time Unwise.

Holding the time to be altogether inopportune for forcing the railroad companies to make any considerable outlay, the Council Committee on Streets last night, by a unanimous vote, tabled indefinitely Alderman Puller's resolution directing the reconstruction of the railroad tracks on Broad and Belvidere Streets so as to eliminate all crossings at grade. The action was taken at the earnest recommendation of Alderman Puller, patron of the measure. There was no opposition to his plan, he said, to give up the fight. At the proper time, when the present financial stringency is past, he said, he will again press his campaign for the adoption of the resolution.

Intend to fight for the removal of the grade crossings on Broad Street and on Belvidere Street, said Mr. Puller, "until the Council either adopts or rejects the resolution I have introduced in this committee. The issue does not belong there, and their presence is a menace."

When this resolution was introduced no one could have foreseen the events which were to follow. The railroads face a financial stringency, and conditions generally are in a state of disturbance. I feel, therefore, that it would not be wise to press the measure at this time. If it meets the approval of the other members of the committee, therefore, it will suit me, as patron of the resolution, if the committee postpones action on this measure until conditions improve.

"I desire to make the statement that I have arrived at this conclusion without consulting any railroad man or any person in any way connected with the railroads and declined to offer my own volition after a careful study of the financial situation."

Mr. Puller addressed the foregoing to the committee purely as a statement of his opinion, and declined to offer any motion. Councilman English moved that the resolution be laid on the table with the understanding that at a more propitious time, and the motion was adopted unanimously.

The proceedings were witnessed by President William H. White, of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad Company; Vice-President and General Counsel Alexander Hamilton, of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad; Eppa Hinton, Jr., and Jordan Leake, of the Chesapeake and Potomac, Fredericksburg and Potomac, and W. D. Duke, assistant to President White. None of the railroad men addressed the committee.

PICTURES WOMAN AS ULTIMATE CONSUMER

Mrs. Christine Frederick, of New York, Addresses Richmond Advertisers' Club.

WOMEN TRAINED TO SPEND

Expert Gives Figures to Show Proportion of Retail Purchases Made by Women or Selected Through Influence of Women.

That the woman is the ultimate consumer and therefore the person to whom the advertiser must appeal, and how he must appeal in order to get her attention, was the theme of the address made by Mrs. Christine Frederick, of New York, in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium under the auspices of the Richmond Advertisers' Club last night.

In justification of her statement, Mrs. Frederick quoted statistics compiled by Columbia University to show that 84.1 per cent of goods sold are purchased directly by women, and that they have a voice in the purchase of 23 per cent more, making a total of 11 per cent, while in the buying of men's clothing the woman's influence reaches 75 per cent. "Women have been trained from childhood to be the spenders," Mrs. Frederick said, "and they are therefore the ones who must be considered by advertisers and manufacturers. Their attitude must be obtained regarding that which is offered."

WHAT MOST IMPRESSES WOMEN IN ADVERTISEMENTS

Mrs. Frederick enumerated some of the points which appeal to the women consumers and said that from responses to letters of inquiry which she had sent out, it was ascertained that women who read advertisements were first impressed by the reputation of the firm offering the merchandise, next by the quality of the goods, and finally by the guarantee.

Mrs. Frederick made a plea for trade-marked goods, pointing out that the mark of identification serves as a warning if the goods are not honestly made, as well as an insignia of excellence for the consumer to consider. She held, among other things, that advertising goods at a price of goods cheaper for the consumer, it is an invitation to compare values, and it has educated the public as to value, and is training the consumer to refuse to buy the things which they do not really want.

Advertising has established standards. It is not the health boards, but advertising of sanitary articles which has induced the women of the world to take to the use of toilet articles and to consider the questions of hygiene with reference to foods and all of the things which are used in their households.

DEFENDS PRACTICE OF SEALED PACKAGES

The speaker defended the package goods of the manufacturer, because they have so many advantages. First, Mrs. Frederick said, they were cleaner and gave assurance of value, because they can be identified. She also pointed out that they are more convenient, more accurate in the matter of weight and keep better, and, further, that those who desire may always purchase the standard package articles in bulk.

GOLD IS FLOWING INTO RICHMOND

Fifth District Members of Reserve System Pay Subscriptions to Regional Bank.

DIRECTORS HOLD MEETING

Begin Work of Selecting Clerical Staff of Twenty From 300 Applications.

Shipments of gold from the Fifth District member banks of the Federal reserve system are pouring into Richmond daily in payment of the first installment of the member banks' subscription to the capital stock of the Richmond Reserve Bank. Pending the occupation of the quarters at 1109 East Main Street, the board of directors of the reserve bank are storing the shipments in the vaults of the State and national banks of the city.

The payment of the first installment called for by the Federal Reserve Board, said Governor George J. Slay, of the Richmond Reserve Bank, "will be complete. The banks have until Monday to pay their subscriptions, but we have been receiving shipments of gold and orders for specie daily from every section of the Fifth Reserve District."

Every one of the nine members of the board was present. The board was in executive session all day. Much of the time was spent in passing upon the numerous applications for positions in the Richmond Reserve Bank. About 300 applications have been filed with the board for the fifteen or twenty positions that will be open.

It is very difficult to find the right man for the right place," said Governor Slay, commenting last night upon this phase of the board's work. "The bank will begin business with a staff of not more than fifteen or twenty, but we are after the right men for these places. We will probably be in a position to announce the staff appointments some time next week."

RESERVE PAYMENTS WILL NOT EMBARRASS

Mr. Slay said that he feared no embarrassment for the member banks which will be required, under the terms of the reserve act, to deposit in the Richmond bank a certain percentage of their reserves on the day it opens for business. Banks in reserve cities will be required to deposit one-fifth of their total reserves, while banks not in reserve cities will deposit only one-sixth.

"While uneasiness has been expressed on this score in some quarters," said Mr. Slay, "I think it is ill-founded. The banks are required by the national banking law to keep their legal reserves intact, and the paying over to the Richmond Reserve Bank of a certain portion of these reserves means merely a transfer of reserves from one vault into another. The money will still remain to the credit of the institution which pays it in. Instead of keeping this percentage of their reserves in their own vaults, they will have it on deposit with the reserve bank in Richmond."

Blockidge, Pulaski, chapters 27, 35, 56 and 70; No. 10, George W. Burnett, Bristol, chapters 35, 50 and 54; No. 11, J. H. Mathews, Big Stone Gap, chapters 19, 42 and 69; No. 12, J. N. Hillman, Coeburn, chapters 30, 34 and 37; No. 13, C. E. Graham, Graham, chapters 26, 28 and 29; No. 14, A. F. Kerr, Clifton Forge, chapters 18, 24 and 53; No. 15, J. H. Matthews, Harrisonburg, chapters 22, 44 and 58; No. 16, R. S. Bucher, Harrisonburg, chapters 6, 17 and 21; No. 17, W. W. Moore, Luray, chapters 4, 16 and 33; No. 18, N. Tiffney, Leesburg, chapters 5, 25, 45 and 59; No. 19, W. J. Phillips, Orange, chapters 13, 23 and 47.

In rededicating the State, while chapters in various places were shifted from one district to another for convenience, the greatest change was made in the Petersburg district, which was formed into two divisions.

STATE TAX COMMISSION TO ADJOURN TO-MORROW

Bulk of Report Is Already in Hands of Public Printer.

GOES TO GOVERNOR AT ONCE

Segregation Plan, Rejected by Majority of Commission, Said to Have Strong Following Among Members of General Assembly.

The State Tax Commission will adjourn to-morrow. Its work will be practically completed to-day, when the final vote on minor subjects submitted to the committee has been reported will be taken.

The Tax Commission has made every possible effort to complete its task within the time contemplated by the Legislature when the commission was created. With this end in view, parts of the report to be submitted were handed to Public Printer Davis Bottom, who promptly handed out the work to the contracting printers. Some of this work did not suit the commissioners, and, after inspecting the forms in proof, they directed the Public Printer to make alterations.

It is understood that the whole report will consist of about 175 printed pages. One or more of the commissioners favored the issuance of one more bulletin to the public before making the report to the Governor. Evidently this did not meet with the approval of the majority. The commission decided against issuing the bulletin.

SEGREGATION PLAN HAS STRONG FOLLOWING

The segregation plan, which the majority of the members of the commission has discarded in favor of the commission plan, is said to have strong support among the members of the General Assembly, which will act upon the tax measures in the special session to be called some time this winter.

As described by one of the minority members, "the segregation plan does not increase the tax rate in a single instance, but, adopting the rates recommended by the committee, segregates for purposes of State revenue, certain subjects that are general in their nature, and releases to the counties and cities those subjects which are purely local in character and which should be retained by the communities, such as the tax on real estate, tangible personal property, etc. By the adjustment of the tax system, according to the segregation plan, it is hoped that nearly every community may find it entirely feasible to make a substantial reduction in its tax rate."

DEVICE IS DEMONSTRATED

Business Men Enjoy Food Prepared on Norwick's Broiler.

Several tables of business men, including Mayor Ansley, participated in a delightful luncheon given at Murphy's Hotel yesterday to demonstrate the efficiency of Norwick's time and fuel-saving broiler. The purpose was to show that food cooked on this Richmond invention was more tasty than that prepared in the ordinary kitchen stove. Everything served was prepared on the new device, and it was shown that the process was cheaper and quicker.

CITY-PLANNING EXHIBIT MAY BE BROUGHT HERE

Mayor Calls Conference of Representatives of Business Organizations.

SHOWS MUNICIPAL PROGRESS

Expert Lecturer Will Demonstrate What Progressive Cities Are Doing to Provide for Their Future Growth and Development.

Mayor Ansley, yesterday, fixed 5 o'clock next Monday night for a conference with representatives from the city's leading commercial organizations on the proposal to bring to Richmond, at an early date, the city-planning exhibit, of the American City Bureau. The meeting will take place in the Mayor's office.

The Mayor's suggestion to the business organizations that the time was propitious for bringing the exhibit to the city, has met with strong endorsement. The presidents of several of the organizations have addressed personal letters to him approving the project and pledging their personal and official cooperation.

The following official representatives have been appointed by six leading commercial organizations, to confer with the Mayor:

Chamber of Commerce, W. T. Reed, president; Business Men's Club, Alvin M. Smith, president; Retail Merchants' Association, J. E. Phillips, Jr.; Rotary Club of Richmond, J. Ambler Johnston; Central Trades and Labor Council, John C. Weckert; Richmond Real Estate Exchange, A. M. Gover.

SCIENTIFIC COLLECTION

The exhibit which it is proposed to bring to this city, consists of a scientific collection of charts, maps, models, and photographs, illustrating the city-planning methods followed by the most advanced cities of this country and Europe. It was collected and arranged by the American City Bureau, of New York, which was assisted in the work by the United States and many foreign governments.

Such an exhibit, it is believed, would prove of unusual value to Richmond, in view of the impending annexation and the municipal improvement problems which will necessarily follow in its future expansion of the city, calling attention to the matter later in speeches made by him in the recent majority campaign.

The exhibit treats the subject of correlating park, street and viaduct systems, and similar problems of city planning. It has been exhibited in some of the leading cities of the country, receiving everywhere the highest commendation from engineers, municipal authorities and private citizens.

It is planned to secure the co-operation of the leading cities of the commercial bodies of the city for the purpose of bringing the exhibit to Richmond for a week. It can be secured for that length of time for from between $500 and $600. This sum would pay also for the services of an expert lecturer, who will accompany the exhibit to superintend its installation and explain its features to visitors.

Disorderly Conduct. John Valentine, colored, was yesterday fined $20 and costs by Justice Griggs on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Concealed Weapon. Philip Brown, colored, arrested by Patrolman Williams, charged with carrying a concealed pistol on his person, was yesterday fined the usual $100 costs and placed under a $100 security when arraigned before Justice Griggs in the Police Court.
